

Amethyst Class Newsletter

Our learning this week....

Survive or Thrive?

What would WW2 have been like with social media?

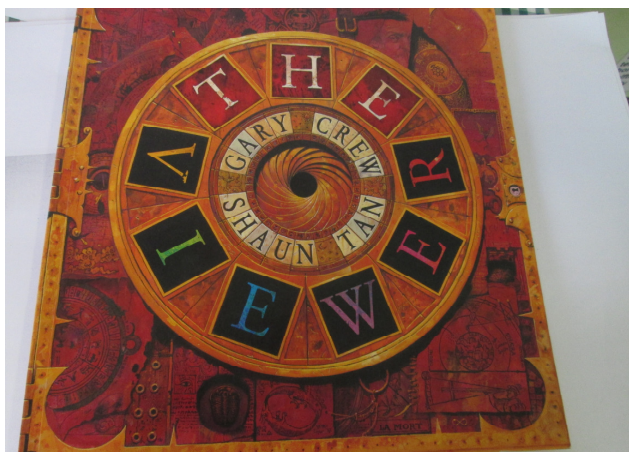

The children had very mature discussions about this question. They decided that there would be huge impacts of social media including: giving away secrets, possibility of Fake news and less of a community family atmosphere as people wouldn't socialise as much! They did feel it would have made evacuation less stressful as you could send your parents regular photographs and messages.

Maths

We have been solving problems involving ratio and trying to link to real life situations.

English

I read and shared the picture book 'The Viewer' by Shaun Tan with the class. They were really taken by the quite spooky story and are now writing their own suspense filled narrative. The photos below show the children sharing their story planners with a class mate before writing:

Next week....

Maths-

Statistics

English- Writing a suspense story.

Continue with SATs
Reading revision.

Music

Rehearse and perform songs from WW2

History

Time tunnel experience-sharing the project with parents and family.

REMINDERS:

WW2 clothes to be worn all day
Wednesday ready for our project outcome.