Amethyst Class Newsletter

Our learning this week...

English

The children have story mapped the journeys for the two main characters in our class book (Mamo and Dani), predicting how their paths might cross. We have started writing our own version of the story as one of the characters in first person narrative. Many of the beginnings are very impressive and the children are making links with the sentence structure skills that we have been also been learning.

Maths

This week we have been assessing the children's arithmetic and reasoning skills. The purpose of this has been to help me identify gaps and individual targets.

R.E

This week our project has taken a R.E focus with the enquiry question: Is it better to express your beliefs in charity or architecture?

The first part of considering this question has been to research impressive religious buildings. The children have been working in pairs to choose what they feel is the world's most impressive religious building. They will then be presenting their arguments for their chosen structure to the rest of the class.

Next week we will think about how people express their beliefs by their deeds and by charity. Finally debating our initial question.

Harvest Festival

The children presented their Harvest poems at the school Harvest Festival. They spoke clearly and sang very beautifully too (I am looking forward to practising for Christmas with them next term!)
