Thank you to everyone who attended home learning share this week.

This week:

Teacher's award goes to JH for improved confidence and LB has earned most house points for Weaver's House –Well done children 😊

In science this week we have been assessing our knowledge about the digestive system. This involved great team work with an initial assessment of what we already know. The pictures show how the children had to collaborate to position, name and describe how they thought the digestive system worked- we had some interesting thoughts and theories!
