

Diamond Class Newsletter 12.05.17

This week:

We have been continuing learning about woodland food chains and have been using our creativity in presenting this learning in our own style. It was wonderful to see how the children had linked their art learning and are now drawing like scientists with attention to detail and accuracy.

Ruby-Jo's wren

Naomi's sparrow hawk

Betty's fox

Henry's eagle

We have shared our quality text book - "The Wolves in the Walls " by Neil Gaiman today, but it would be a good idea if the children took the opportunity to listen to the story over the weekend in order to consolidate their understanding .This can be found on YouTube (the version that's 8.06 mins long).

Your child may also bring home their writing book this weekend in order to finish writing the recount about our trip last week. They have been following the WAGOLL and trying hard to incorporate lots of the grammar skills on it. We now need to finish this so we can move on to our exciting narrative. I would be grateful if you could encourage your child to complete it and then assess this writing against the WAGOLL. Thank you.
