What have we been learning?

This week, we have been looking at the works of Jackson Pollack, and have said what we like or dislike about his art work. We have created our own art in two different media creations. These creations will be used as the backdrop in our animations and you might spot them in our Christmas production!

What do you like about our IT creations below?

We were very excited when we received some post in Jet class from the author and illustrator Simon Bartram who wrote 'Man on the Moon'; he has set us a new challenge, to re-write parts of the story and create a problem for Bob. So far, we have written the opener and the problem- how will they be solved??

In maths, we had yet another problem to solve, all the way from the man on the moon! His till at the souvenir shop has broken, and he needed our help to work out how much he needed the customers to pay when they were buying things. We used all our addition skills to find the totals.

Next Week

Next week, in Jet class, we will be writing the conclusions to the stories we have started this week. We will then be peer critiquing our friends' stories and thinking about how we could re-draft and improve them.

In maths, we will be continuing to challenge ourselves with money and addition.

On Tuesday, we have our class visit to Cineworld to world to watch 'Capture the Flag', the children will not need to bring any snacks or drinks to the cinema.

Other News: If your child has lines for the Christmas performance, please ensure that they practise them every day and that they are familiar with the line that comes before so they know when to speak. The children need to know their words by Monday 21st November.

We will need their costumes in school by Monday 28th November. If you're having any problems sourcing the items for your child's outfit please let us know sooner rather than later so we can help. If we haven't informed you about what your child needs to wear it is because we have a suitable outfit available in school.
