26th April 2024

After an exciting week of mosque visits and Roman days, we have enjoyed a quieter week with our usual routine. The children have recapped their protractor skills and have extended their learning to draw acute, obtuse and reflex angles. In English, we have introduced a new genre to the children as we are hoping to write a balance argument as part of our discussion about Roman invasion. The children have absolutely loved their debate and it was great to see so many valid points put forward by the children. We have also been finishing off some Geography from last term. The children have been learning about lines of longitude and latitude.

Coming up next week Learning focused

In Maths, we will be revisiting more on shape as well as looking at converting periods of time.

In English, we shall be revisiting some grammar, particularly adverbs of possibility and modal verbs.

Develop comprehension skills in reading
Each Wednesday morning, we listen to all children read.

Way to support at home (home learning)

Children can revisit concepts on Mathematics. Talk to them at home about periods of time e.g. how long until your birthday? How old is your little sister in months? Etc. Practising their times tables on TTRS would also be very useful.
