

shutterstock - 157219715

Jet Class Newsletter

16.06.2017

What have we been learning?

We have been scientists this week, using our observation skills to go out into the garden and see how all of our planting is coming along! We were all very excited to see how successfully everything has been growing.

Next Week

In RE, we will be thinking about being good citizens and how to care for others and the wider world around us.

We are all going to become authors and from a story prompt, we will take the story on a journey of its own, by writing what we think would happen next. We look forward to you reading them at our banquet.

In computing, we will be completing our mini outcome "How has it changed?" and adding our information to our household object timeline.

Other News

The children have all been issued 2 new books on bug club, which they can complete.

After our castle trip, we will be completing our mini outcome "Will the Queen like it?" We will be making a patchwork quilt, therefore, if anyone has any off cuts of material, we are now starting to collect these. Please send them into school.

We will also need parents, to come and help with the sewing on the following dates 29th/30th June, 3rd July and the morning of 5th July. Please let staff know if you can help.

shutterstock - 157219715

Jet Class Newsletter

16.06.2017

--	--