

Jet Class Newsletter

24.03.2017

What have we been learning?

We have landed on our final continent this week, South America. The children have been busy exploring Brazil and comparing it to Wickwar through identifying the human and physical features of both places using aerial view photographs.

We have been developing our non-fiction writing by creating our own information leaflets, they needed to include the main features: sub-headings, pictures, maps, facts and questions.

In maths we had fun measuring length, we measured our body parts and then measured Brazilian animals.

Next Week

We will be continuing to write our information leaflets about Antarctica, Africa and Australia ready for you to read next Wednesday.

In maths we will be investigating the measure of 'height' to decide who will be in what order for the Brazilian carnival!

Jet class will also be participating in the Sports Leaders Training on Tuesday afternoon.

Other News

The children have been sent home with a practice comprehension paper today. Please let your child read and answer the question independently. Please complete the paper and send back into school next Friday 31st March.

Please remember to book online for parents evening. Miss Pursey will be available on the Wednesday evening and Mrs Cleverley on the Thursday evening.

Please make sure all of the books in the bug club library are being read.

Don't forget, it is our project outcome on Wednesday 29th March, this will start at 10:15am. It's a chance to come on a tour of the continents and see all the learning we have been doing.

Jet Class Newsletter

24.03.2017

