

Jet Class Newsletter

13.10.2017

What have we been learning?

It has been another busy week in Jet Class. We have become authors writing our own Jungle stories. We have created and described our own characters, described our story setting and created our own problem and resolution, we can't wait for you to read them.

We have been composing our own pieces of jungle music using untuned instruments. We had to write our own music score using symbols, practice and perform our music in front of our peers and improve of pieces using peer critique suggestions.

Next Week

In maths we are developing our money skills, the children will be investigating different combinations of coins to make an amount and solving challenges applying these skills.

We will be continuing to create our own interpretation of Henri Rousseau Jungle pictures using collage.

Spellings will be tested on a Tuesday, please practice on pieces of paper not in the red books.

Reminders

Parents evening next Wednesday and Thursday. Please enter through the main entrance and head down to Jet Class.

Please can you make sure your child stays with you on the playground once we have dismissed them from class at the end of the day.

Friday 20th October 2017 - INSET day