This week:

Our project this term is "What does it take to survive?" and our wow launch was to try to make a shelter that was adapted for survival using Playpod equipment. The children were very excited about this task and worked together in teams to try to build a structure, which could protect them from the sun and possibly the rain. Here are just a few of the pictures.

We have started to read both our class books. In contrast, one book is fictional and the other contains recounts of real life survival stories which the children are fascinated by.

Reminders:

- Check out Google Classroom for the homework task
- "Meet the Teacher" information has been posted on Google Classroom stream
- Mathsletics tasks have been assigned for this week
- Please practise the 3,4,8 timetables on T timetable Rockstars

Have a lovely weekend – Mrs Moncrieff
