STEMworks Day – We had a fantastic in-school trip/experience on Wednesday. For the whole day the children worked on a STEM project. They designed a Ferris wheel style fairground ride out of K-Nex and then wrote computer programmes to operate the ride. They had the day to complete their design, write coding for movement, sound and lights and finally present their working model to the whole class. I will put videos of each group on Google Classroom and you can also watch them Monday afternoon.
