

Amethyst Class Newsletter

Our learning this week...

Science

Continuing with our unit on the human body, we have been exploring how the heart works and what are the key aspects of our circulation system. We recreated the circulation system in the classroom. Children took different roles: some were blood cells, others were parts of the body receiving oxygen and a child was the lungs giving out oxygen, whilst another child was the heart pumping the oxygenated and deoxygenated blood.

Music – Saxophone concert

On Thursday morning we all took part in a concert to parents and pupils. We performed songs, presented our learning about musical elements and research on Saxophone and of course played several tunes on our instruments. The children felt very proud of themselves and the audience seemed to thoroughly enjoy the performance.

7th December 2018