Our learning this week...

Why Should We Remember?

The children have begun researching what life was like in the Trenches. They have been using a range of books, sources, websites and photographs to help them to make notes on this subject.

Maths

We have been learning how to read and write numbers to 10,000,000. We have investigated place value and answered many different styles of questions to help develop our understanding of the value of different digits. Mathematics for this week has been set around this topic.

English

The children are enjoying our class book – War Horse and have been writing diaries and letters linked to the characters in the book.

Science

Our science for this term is a unit of study on light and this week we have been learning how light reflects off of different surfaces.
