Class Newsletter

Maths – This week we have been learning how to solve problems involving ratio.

English – We have started our new dystopian novel – Floodland. The children seem intrigued by the plot so far.

Art – This term we will be designing a printing block from lino and creating prints from that. We started this week by looking at relief printing artists.

Science – We have begun our evolution unit by looking at evidence in the fossil record.

Project launch – All the children enjoyed our wow day, with a paper boat challenge and the chance to design their own Viking Shield.
