8th November 2019

Emerald Class Newsletter:

I would like to say a huge thank you for your lovely 'Get Well Soon' card. It was very thoughtful and certainly cheered me up.

Just a quick reminder that it is 'Odd Socks' day on Tuesday 12th November. Children are allowed to come into school wearing odd socks. This is in support of anti-bullying week where the sock symbolise that it's good to be different.

On Friday 15th November, children can wear their uniform with something spotty and/or yellow in aid of Children in Need . On that day, children have also been given permission to bring a cuddly toy into school, with the toy wearing an eyepatch (like Pudsey).

This week:

After a lovely half term away, we are back into the swing of our learning and it is wonderful to see how the children have returned with such enthusiasm. We have been revisiting our Geography skills, investigating the symbols on OS maps and understanding what those symbols teach us about the area.

We have also started to learn the Christmas songs for our Christmas performance. There will be auditions next week for singing and speaking parts for those who wish to try for a singing/speaking part. I am sure you will experience of joy, hearing those songs over and over again from now until Christmas... sorry. I promise you that all the practise will be worth it.

In English, we have been revisiting word classes and I have introduced 'prepositions'. The children seem to be understanding it really well and we are now moving onto prepositional phrases, looking at how we can manipulate sentences.

In Maths, we have revisited adding 1, 10 and 100. It is wonderful to see how well we have progressed with our problem solving skills! Well done Crystal Class.
