23rd April 2021

Things to note:

Well. We are officially into term 5 and it feels like the year is flying. The children have settled back to school well and are loving our new History project where we are learning about the Stone Age, Bronze Age and Iron Age.

On Fridays, we have reverted back to practising our times tables, spellings and I also check reading records. Could children please ensure that they have their spelling books and reading records for each Friday? I have reminded them that it is their responsibility to ensure that they read 5 times a week and ask you to sign the reading record as well.

This week:

We have started the week with our amazing Wow day to launch our new project. The children loved adopting the style of Andy Goldsworthy, creating art by using nature. The class are very creative!

In the afternoon, we then became Historians and we all participated in an archaeological dig! We were incredibly excited archaeologists and we could not believe it when we actually found fossils too!

In Maths, we have started to look at fractions. The children are loving this Math's subject and we are already showing great confidence. We have focused on specific language to understand fractions, using the words 'whole' and 'equal parts' to explain our definition.

In English, we have been recapping sentence structure and we have started to learn about different adverbs. Next week, we shall be applying these adverbs.
