Global Citizenship

Working together to create a chalk poster the size of a baby whale. Children wrote environmental messages inside and around it.

Role-play where the children explored the impact of deforestation. This linked superbly with our Rainforest project.

This week:

We have been continuing with improving our multiplication skills and every maths session starts with "Daily 10". I have seen a huge improvement in the children's accuracy and speed of recall. I will continue to do this for the foreseeable future as it is having a huge impact on their maths learning. We have been applying our multiplication and division knowledge to solve worded problems.

Our English learning has been linked with Geography and we are in the process of shaping information texts on Orangutans.

In between play rehearsals, we have been making natural Christmas decorations so that we can dress a tree – it is "National Tree Dressing Week" this week but it has been far too wet to do this yet.

I look forward to seeing you at the Christmas Fair tonight. If you are unable to come but would like to purchase your children's tree decorations and picture please let us know – it's not too late to reserve!
