This week:

Our project this term is "What does it take to survive?" and our wow launch was to try to make a shelter that was adapted for survival. The children were very excited about this task and worked collaboratively into try to build shelters for their toys. Here are just a few of the pictures.

We have started to read both our class books. In contrast, one book is fictional and the other contains recounts of real life survival stories, which the children are fascinated by.

Reminders:

- Meet the Teacher information will be posted on Google Classroom next week
- On Tuesday 14th Sept, Mrs McAleese would like the children to talk about an early childhood memory or event and they need to bring in a related item to show the class.
- Just to clarify, fidget spinners are not to be brought into class. Should your child need this provision, we will supply the apparatus in school- thank you.

Have a lovely weekend – Mrs Moncrieff 🍌😊
