

14.02.2025

Diamond Class Newsletter

We had a brilliant day at the Ashmolean Museum on Monday. We started the day with an 'Egypt Detectives' workshop, hunting for various objects in the Egyptian galleries. After warming up our detective skills, we learnt about the different exhibits, including the mummies before handling artefacts from the ancient Egyptian times. After lunch, we spent some time exploring other parts of the museum. A fantastic day, full of curiosity and exploration!

Hope you all have a lovely half term break.

14.02.2025

Coming up after half term - Learning	Way to support at home
In maths we will be learning about decimals and how they link to fractions. In English we will be looking at Tutankhamun and Howard Carter, writing news broadcasts and diaries. We will also be reading a book called 'The Ancient Egypt Sleepover'.	<ul data-bbox="858 331 1385 600" style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Read at least 5 times a week.</li><li>- Mathematics</li><li>- TTRS or other times tables practise.</li><li>- Spellings – these are now being sent home weekly to be practised before tests every Tuesday.</li></ul>