English:

This week, we have carried on learning about direct speech. The children are really getting to grips with this now, so when they come to writing their narrative, they will hopefully be able to use their new knowledge. We have also started creating our storyboards for Kensukes Kingdom, which the children will use to write their own version next week.

Maths:

We have started a new topic about multiplying and dividing. The children have been practising up to their 12 times tables, which they need to know for the test at the end of year 4.

Geography/science:

We finished classifying leaves on the school field- the children engaged well and used lots of descriptive language and reasoning skills. The new project we started towards the end of the week is all about deforestation. We are going to look into palm oil, the water cycle, food chains and tribal people. This is going to be a really engaging project, which the children will hopefully enjoy.

Pe:

We have started a new dance piece called snooker championships. The children seem to thoroughly enjoy the lesson this week and created very inventive shapes and patterns. For our games lessons, we have carried on with throwing, as there is still practice needed to ensure they have a good foundation.

Reminders:

- Spellings have been set, so please can you practise them ready for a test next Friday.
- I have set some Mathsletics tasks, which should be completed by next Thursday.
- Please make sure you read at least 5 times, and get your reading record signed, over the coming week.
- I have set a new homework task, this will need to be completed over the next 3 weeks.

I hope you have a great weekend, Miss Chalmers 😊
