English:

The children have moved onto completing a persuasive piece of writing about saving the rainforests, with a specific focus on orang-utans. To support their learning, the children pulled apart the different features of a persuasive text. This stemmed discussions around what the features are and how they are effective.

Maths:

Our maths work has moved onto dividing 2 digit and 3 digit numbers by 1 digit numbers using written method. This is a hard topic, however the children have been persevering to understand this concept.

Project:

This week, the children are using all of their knowledge and understanding about deforestation, to produce an animation. They have thoroughly engaged with this, and are coming up with some very creative ideas about how they will show their understanding. Furthermore, they have shown successful teamwork.

Reminders:

- Please remember to practise our Christmas song.
- Spellings have been set, so please can the children practise them ready for a test next Friday.
- More mathematics tasks have been set, please could these be completed by next Thursday.
- Finally, please make sure the children are reading at home at least 5 times a week. Once read, please sign their reading

I hope you have a great weekend,
Miss Chalmers 😊
