In English we have started our learning around poems. We have been looking at the skills of alliteration and rhyming couplets and have been having fun reading and spotting these in poems. We've begun to experiment with writing our own alliterations and rhyming strings of words and will be planning and writing our own poems next week.

In Maths the children have been applying their column method skills to tackle some complex missing number addition and subtraction problems. I have been really impressed with the perseverance and resilience shown in this learning over the week.

We have been pleased with the children's hard work completing their Mathletics home learning. We shared five Bronze certificates last week!

In DT we have designed our egg carriers with our partner and are looking forward to starting to build these. Thank you for all the cereal boxes we have received, we will be making good use of these next week.

Dates to remember...

Friday 3rd December is the Friends Christmas Fair – we hope to see you there!

Friday 10th December, from 9.10am Christmas Carols and coffee morning.

- We have started to feel festive as we practice some songs to share with you.

Have a lovely weekend.
