Last Friday in PE we have working on our overhead throws using both one and two hand to throw for distance and then accuracy when throwing to a partner.

In English we have been starting our focus on creative fiction writing. This week we have been creating and describing our own characters, thinking about what our character is like as a person as well as their physical appearance. We have begun to create our story settings and will continue with these descriptions next week before planning the plot.

In Maths we have been completing times table quizzes to check our understanding of the tables introduced this year. The main areas for focus needed here are 6s and 8s so when spending time on TTRS either focus on these within jamming or use garage to practice all of the tables set.

In Science we learnt about how fossils were made. To help us understand the process we used clay as the layers of sediment over the organism to create a dinosaur fossil.

Best wishes,
