

Jet Class Newsletter

05.11.21

What have we been learning?

We have had a great first week back after the holidays. The role play has turned into a pirate ship to link in with our class text 'The Troll' by Julia Donaldson and we have been busy creating pirate maps and writing messages in a bottle. In English we have been writing Riddles about the different animals in the Troll story, applying our adjectives s and using a question mark. In maths we have been consolidating missing number subtraction number sentences using numicon and number tracks.

We had our first music singing session with Sue, the children loved it and we sang two songs about sea creatures. We can't wait for our next session next week.

In art we have started our leaning for our next mini outcome 'What is the colour of the sea?' We will be creating our own Van Gogh inspired 'seascape' paintings using different textures. This week we explored primary and secondary colours using a colour sea snail wheels.

Next Week

In English we will be developing our instruction writing skills to write instructions on how to stay safe in the water following our visit from the RNLI on Tuesday.

Our maths lessons will focus on our fluency counting to 20 and finding missing numbers on a number lines.

We are exploring warm and cold colours in art, choosing pictures we like and matching warm and cold colours to our pictures in our sketchbooks.

On Monday morning we will be taking part in a tag ruby session and cheer leading session.

Home learning

There has been mathematics learning set this week to support the learning we have been focusing on in class.

Please support your child to achieve their reading 'FIVER' each week. This can be achieved by them reading their school reading book to you or you sharing a book together from home. Remember to initial when your child has read in their home school book.

Hopefully your children have enjoyed having spellings over half term. These will be tested in school every Wednesday so please support your child to practice their words which you will find in their red book.