

Jet Class Newsletter

22.11.2019

What have we been learning?

What a great week we have had learning all about a significant person from the past, Grace Darling!

We watched a fantastic story all about the night she saved 9 sailors and the event that has allowed us to remember her. We then did some brilliant drama, where we took on different roles to act out the story.

We then wrote diary entries as if we were Grace Darling.

In Maths, we have been consolidating all our knowledge of using equipment to show representations of numbers as well as using $<$ $>$ $=$ to compare numbers between 0-20.

Next Week

We will be moving onto our last class book for this term 'The snail and the whale' by Julia Donaldson.

Other News

We are looking for some parent helpers to come in on either Monday 2nd December or Tuesday 3rd December in the afternoon to come and help us to create some items to sell

Jet Class Newsletter

22.11.2019

In English, we will be writing postcards as the snail, describing one of the places he visited.

In maths we will be looking at addition adding numbers together to make 20.

In Geography, we will be developing our use of using human and physical vocabulary to describe features we can see in pictures.

In Art, we will be continuing with creating our Van Gogh seascape paintings.

at the Class Christmas Sale on Monday 9th December. Please let us know if you can help on either of these dates.

Please send your child in with a glass jar with a lid by Monday 1st December.

You should all have received a separate letter, with the outfit your child requires for our Christmas performance. Please make sure these are in school by Wednesday 27th November in a named bag.

We are also really needing extra parent helpers on a regular basis to help with the changing the books and hearing readers.