

Jet Class

In Maths this week we have been applying our knowledge of place value to estimate where numbers sit on a blank number line and to compare two 2 digit numbers by using the vocabulary of greater than and less than.

In English we have been consolidating our understanding of sentences and consolidating our key skills of transcription. We have been using 'and' to join words within a sentence.

In Science we have been thinking about whether the offspring of different animal groups resemble their adult selves or not.
