06.10.17

Our sensory garden plans have been finalised this week, with each group taking responsibility for a specific area. Next week we will begin to plot out the area and start making items.

In English this week, we have finished and peer critiqued our stories. Next week we will be focusing on different clauses within complex sentences before writing non-chronological reports about Varmints.

In Maths this week, we have been exploring multiples, factors and prime numbers using our increasing knowledge of our times tables. We have all build up the confidence to be tested on our tables in front of the class this week too.

This week we spent an afternoon with Jet class helping them to sort out their recycling. It was wonderful to see the two classes working so well together and learning from each other about how to look after our planet.

Reminders:

- Please make sure children read at least five times a week and record this in the back of the home school book.
- Complete Mathletics homework.
- Please practise times tables as often as you can at home.
- Homework share – Wednesday 11th October.
