On Tuesday, as part of our project launch, we spent the day as Celts: forming tribes, designing our own Celtic symbols and creating shields. Whilst electing our tribe leaders and choosing tribe names, we found out about how the Celts lived and what Britain was like before the Roman invasion.

Following on from our launch day, in English on Wednesday we began to learn about Julius Caesar's failed attempts to invade Britain in 55 and 54BC and Emperor Claudius' successful invasion in 43AD. We will be linking our learning in History and English to write newspaper reports about the Roman invasion of Britain.

In Maths next week we will be learning about decimals and percentages before moving on to Roman numerals.
