Pearl Class Newsletter

This week was anti-bullying week and the theme this year focused on being united against bullying and making a pledge to make a difference. We discussed the definition of bullying and the various forms it can take as well as looking at the role of bystanders. Following on from our discussions, we designed our own anti-bullying superheroes with special powers to protect and look out for others. There were some fantastic ideas.

In Maths this week we have been continuing to secure and further our understanding of long multiplication method, progressing from multiplying pairs of 2-digit numbers to multiplying a 4-digit number by a 2-digit number. Next week we will be looking at short division, interpreting remainders in different ways. An example of the method will be uploaded on Google classroom to help with home learning.
