It has been very exciting this week as we have come to the end of reading 'The Nowhere Emporium'. The enthusiasm was wonderful to watch and hear as we were coming to end! Luckily, there is a sequel, 'The Elsewhere Emporium' that we will begin reading next week.

Following on from this we have begun to plan our own sequel stories. There are some fantastic, imaginative ideas, which I cannot wait to read.

To inspire our writing further, we watched the Radio 2 500-word story competition live lesson on Thursday morning. Famous authors all gave advice on story writing and we were able to join in creating engaging opening sentences and developing story ideas. The 500-word story competition runs until 8th March. More details can be found at <https://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/articles/50pnqLfDywb9CFxjNvth5l0/about-500-words>

In Maths next week we will be adding and subtracting fractions with denominators which are multiples of each other e.g.  $\frac{3}{4} + \frac{2}{8} =$
