Ruby Class Newsletter

December is here and the Christmas spirit has certainly arrived in Ruby Class! We have been practising our Christmas songs for the coffee morning next week - they really do sound wonderful! The children have also been busy baking shortbread for our Christmas fair to sell. We have also had a surprise visit from a naughty elf!

In maths, we have started to explore angles. The children have recognised and identified right angles and angles that are greater and less than a right angle.

In English, we have started to write our very own rhyming couplets. We tried to include alliteration and rhyming words linked to George's Marvellous Medicine.

This week in DT, we have built our shell structure to transport an egg. We made our 'nets' into a cube and added extra materials to our structure that we felt would support an egg. In PSHE, we continued to think about bullying and thought about hurtful words. In PE, we continued with games and gymnastics. The children practised travelling over a partner in a curled or stretched way. In art, we have continued to apply our skills in 'tone and texture' to draw the shape and features of our faces. In RE, we have looked at how Christians celebrate Christmas and shared the Christmas story.
