Ruby Class Newsletter

A very busy end to Term 5 for Ruby class this week.

In maths we are still continuing with time! This time we are exploring the 12 and 24 hour clock. The children found this really easy as they realised all they had to do was add 12 each time!

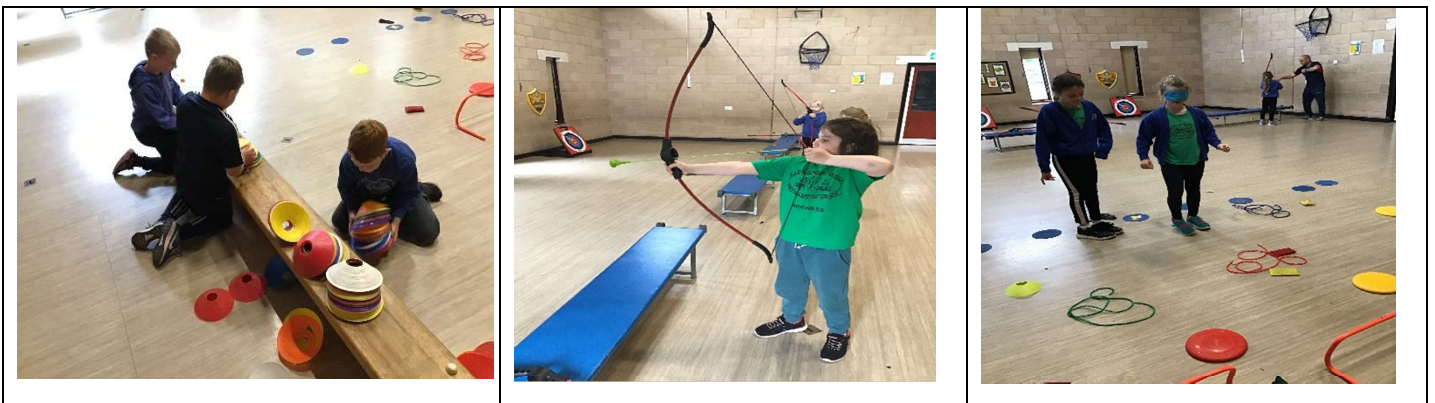

During English this week, the children wrote their own set of instructions based on something in the Stone Age. They are all amazing and really unique! The children have made sure they have included lots of time conjunctions and prepositions to show when and where something happens.

This week, the children didn't have one art lesson, but two! On Monday, the children printed their block onto a bag and then on Tuesday added their felt piece by using a running stitch!

They children are very excited to show you the outcomes next term.

On Wednesday, the children were able to take part in a taster session for Outdoor Adventurous Activities. This involved lots of team work. The children were able to try archery, as well as work as a team to complete some fun games! Next term, the children will be doing Outdoor Adventurous Activities as part of their PE, so it was great for them to have an insight to what might be coming up.
