

Topaz News

This week

The Gruffalo has continued to provide us with lots of activities to keep us busy. In our forest session we made an enormous log-pile house for the snake. We needed to carry sticks and logs carefully and used our team work skills.

When the sun has been shining we have been interested in seeing how big we can make our shadow.

If the sun shines you could encourage some curiosity with shadows. It is a good way to grow our size vocabulary as well by using lots of different words.

It has been very busy. We have also been looking at numbers and drawing Gruffalos using the rhyme to remember the parts that we need to draw. I have been blown away with the progress that we are making with drawing already!

Phonics

The 'Road to Reading' presentation is ready for viewing. If you view it over the next week I will explain how we approach phonics into reading. I will send a separate link. If you have any questions, please ask.

Bug Club log in details will be sent via Evidence Me this week too. The presentation will explain how we use this.

Have a great weekend, Sally Windmill
